Anjana Devi's story is one of incredible resilience and determination. Growing up in Dalbhida, Bokaro, in a family with a farmer father and a homemaker mother, Anjana faced significant financial challenges from a young age. Despite the scarcity of resources, she never let these obstacles hinder her pursuit of education and always strived to perform to the best of her abilities.

After completing her education, Anjana was determined to secure a job that could help support her family. During her search for opportunities, she learned about the Coal India Skill Development Training Programme in Dhanbad. With the support of her parents, she visited the center, and after understanding the program's potential, she enrolled in the General Duty Assistant (GDA) course. This decision became the turning point in her life, setting her on a path to a better future.

Upon completing her training, Anjana participated in a campus placement drive, where she was selected by Medicant Hospital in Bokaro for a Patient Care role, with a monthly salary of Rs. 8,000. This opportunity provided not only financial stability but also the foundation to build a fulfilling career.

With unwavering dedication and hard work, Anjana excelled in her new role, showcasing that perseverance can turn dreams into reality. Her journey is a powerful testament to the fact that with belief in oneself and relentless effort, no challenge is insurmountable. Anjana's story continues to inspire others to chase their dreams, no matter the hurdles they may face.
